

Welcome To Mr Matthew Oakley's website.

The aim of modern othopaedics is to maintain mobility and thereby patients quality of life. It is continually changing, producing exciting improvements in patient care all the time. Joint replacement (or arthroplasty) was first tried in the 1700s wiith little success. Now it is one of the greatest successes of modern time.

Within the Main Menu of this site you will find information on hip replacement (THR), partial and full knee replacement (TKR) and arthroscopic (or key hole) knee surgery.

I would like it to give you the information you need help you make the right choices.

Mr Oakley's personal results, charges and contact details are also published within this site in the Top Menu bar.

I have also included some patient comments of which I am proud.
